Yearbook Cover Contest Winner-

Every year there is a student chosen at CMS for winning the yearbook cover contest. The picture chosen will be put on the cover of the year book. This year the winner is Raeliana Gilmour, we chatted with her about why she drew what she did for the cover.

She always liked fading panting and we are now the bulldogs so she used blue paint and pawprints. Her peers told her that her painting was good, but she was shocked and feels good about winning. She had many failed attempts and at first it didn't turn out well, but it finally turned out when she used acrylic paint and sharpies which took her about 45 minutes. She had the idea to use different shades of blue and have the bulldog, but that didn't turn out so she just did pawprints, and it then eventually turned out good.

Book Recommendations:

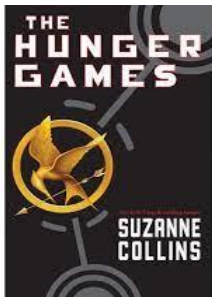

Maze Runner

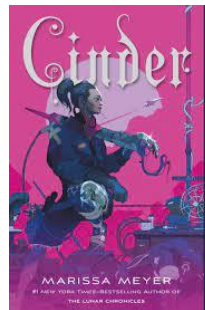

The Lightning Thief

The Hunger Games

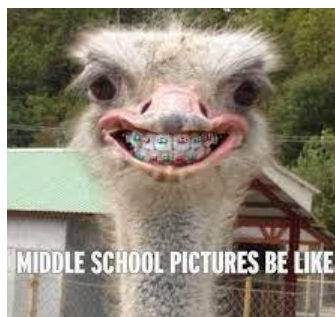

Lunar Chronicles-Cinder

Weather

The weather is not the warmest. It's going to be mostly cloudy. Yeah, well it's gonna be kinda cold so wear a jacket or sweatshirt or something like that. It will probably rain and be muddy because early spring is here! Wear some boots if it's muddy. It might be rainy and snowy which will make slush so dress accordingly.

Teacher Interviews

Interview with Ms. Anderson

When did you know you wanted to be a teacher?

I remember wanting to be a teacher in Kindergarten because I really looked up to my teacher. She was nice and made me feel safe and happy at school. I struggled with math in middle school and my Algebra teacher in high school helped me gain confidence in math so I wanted to be just like her and become a math teacher to help other students who didn't feel confident in math

Why math and science?

I LOVE math and I get to do fun science experiments!

Where did you go to college?

Western Washington University in Bellingham, WA

Why do you teach 6th grade?

I wanted an opportunity to spend my whole day teaching math and science so I knew I wanted middle school. 6th graders are so fun!

Who is your favorite mathematician or scientist?

My favorite scientist is Neil deGrasse Tyson

Interview with Ms. Roberts

What made you want to be a 5th grade teacher?

I was coaching my son's soccer and I really liked working with kids.

How long have you been a 5th grade teacher?

6 years

What is your favorite part of being a teacher?

When I see the students understanding something they thought was hard and then it's easy for them to understand.

Where did you go to school and college?

University of Louisiana

School Reminders

- Make sure to raise your hand for a hot lunch, or else kids won't get the lunch they expect.
- Please be respectful to your teachers. They work hard for us.
- Eat lunch and don't throw your apples away, put them in the fruit bin.
- Do ten pushups if you throw your food into the trash and it misses.
- Make sure you wear your sweatshirt and coat at recess because you are not allowed back in to grab your garments.
- CMS 5th-8th band large group festival will be held in the CMS gym/commons/band room on March 16th.

Mask Mandate

On April 3, 2020, the covid 19 mask mandate began in the United states. After the lockdown began, politicians didn't know what to do. People were panicking, and in their haste they decided to enforce the use of face masks to slow down the spread of the covid 19 virus. Soon after the mandate was passed, people started to get restless. The majority of people felt masks were okay and were helpful. But as time went by, masks did not go away. People could imagine life without masks. People were done with masks. State governors were questioning their decision about the masks. One by one states began to reverse the mask mandate, and almost every single state had said goodbye to masks. One of the few states that still enforces the mask mandate is Washington State. And now, state governors are ending the mandate on march 12. Now it's clear. The pandemic is ending!
